HOW TO BE SAVED

1—Ask God to show you your need of Salvation, and the danger you are in till you have found it.

2—Ask God to help you to understand that Jesus died for you.

3—Show God you are sorry for your sins by giving them up.

4—Ask God to forgive you for Christ's sake.

5—Do not rest till you have the assurance of the Holy Spirit that you are saved.

At present its resources have scarcely been touched; its immense fertile regions hardly scratched. Wheat is a maid product, but paper (from wood pulp), asbestos, uickel and other rich outputs of her mines, are commanding a large share of the markets of the world for those important requirements. I see that the total agricultural produce of all kinds in one year was valued at four hundred million pounds sterling.

COLLECTOR

In the course of his Self-Denial collecting, Corps Officer called upon the chief citizen of the borough. The needs of the Officer were very pressing, but, as a trained observer, he recognized at once that the gentleman was in distress. Instantly the Officer concentrated upon the case, prepared to give instead of receive, to serve instead of being served.

In a few moments the Mayor, with tears in his eyes, was telling the Officer a story of serious home difficulties and appealing to him for help in his own soul-troubles.

Happily the Officer was able to direct him to the great Burdenbearer, and to show him that with the removal of the burden of guilt every other burden would be removed, or grace to bear it be supplied.

NOT A RAY OF HOPE, UNTIL-

Brother Wesley first saw the light in the famous eity of Essen, Germany, nearly seventy years ago. His family were intensely religious, and their desire was that he should give his life to the service of the church. But, unfortunately, they had some very corroneous ideas about what was best for the lad, and the result was that he became associated with evil men very early in life, and he now recalls that his little brain was muddled with drink when he was only six years of age. He was soundly whipped for this, but that dient eure him, and he grew to young manhood held fast in the clutches of evil habits.

After experiences which are best left buried, he came to Canada when he was eighteen years of age, and for a mamber of years was a miserable drunkurd without a ray of hope for this world or the next. But merey was extended to him, and forty-thee

Following immediately at 11 a.m., a service was conducted at the Industrial Department for Officers, employees and others, and a most hallowed influence was felt.

At 2 p.m. the Colonel was on the joh again and inspected the work being carried on amongst the young people at the Industrial, This is a new departure and it is believed there are many little ones who will be linked up by the efforts of the Men's Social Workers.

The last meeting of the day was held at the Industrial Hall and will live long in our memory. The music was supplied by Commandants Smith and Trickey, while Envoy and Mrs. Byers and others, and then the visitors gave their final addresses. Four seekers came forward for Salvation.

At last he decided, Going up to the moar he walked in. And none too soot, for a "battle" as evidently about to take place. Seeing the Salvation Army Officer the couple hold looked round in surprise. The Captain, nothing danned, asked if he could be of any help.

The trouble was soon explained. They had pienty of money, a beautiful home, and all the necessities of life, but drink had been the curse. Before the Captain left, a recuncilation was effected. Calling three days later, the Captain found that the reconciliation had been a sincere one, and the rouple promised to attend the following Sanday's meetings.

The case is being followed up, and Captain Ellis and his contrades are hopeful of a still happier issue—none offer than the surrender of these lives into the hands of God.

whirl and at high pressure. "Every hour and every power for Christ and duty," is literally true of the General; indeed, nothing perturbs him more than the waste of precious time—more especially if has to idle away moments on rail-way stations! Hence Tuesday way stations! Hence Tuesday morning found our Leader and his Secretary tumbling—just in the "nick of time"—into the boat exabundant evidence forthcoming that this was by no means true of the people themselves, especially the Salvationists! On the contrary, something of the excitement manipress at Victoria, setting out for his brief Congress Campaign in the fest at the commencement of the journey characterized the whole Campaign. An hour after reaching his billet, our Leader was engaged How rapidly the days and months fly past in the case of one whose life is occupied unceasingly with the numberless affairs of Salvation Army administration and dominated by one increasing Jurings 1 Mage in intimate conversation with nearly a dozen representatives of the leading newspapers in the country, some of whom last year made a tour by motor-coach to inspect The Army's Farm Colony and Social Institutions situated within a radius of 190 kilometres of the capital. in intimate conversation with nearly Army administration and dominated by one increasing purpose! More than twelve months ago the General was 9,000 miles away from his pre-sent battlefield, in Holland's most sont battleheld, in Holland's most-prosperous Colony, the Dutch East Indies; now he is here in the Moth-erland as virile and zealous as ever, preaching the same glorious mes-sage of hope for the worst and de-

Some fifteen minutes later, he was facing 2,000 people in the beautiful Concert Palace. The love of these Officers and Soldiers for the General was manifest from their faces the moment be appeared on the platform. They simply "rose at him" in a body, clapping and shouting with delight. And it was evident that this affection extended beyond them to the numerous friends and admirers of The Army who were present.

This gathering, which packed the building to an extent not hitherto permitted, was announced as a Missionary Meeting, and there are few who can so vividly describe Army warfare in other lands as can our world-traveled Leader. With lighting rapidity he led their thoughts from one country to another, from one race of people to another, and from one class of work to another, from one class of work to another, from one class of work to another, special interest being focussed on the description of his visit to the lepers of Holland's Far East Colony. It seemed almost ironical to hear this andience of stolid Hollanders lustily singing adapted words to the time of "The Maple Leaf," yet 1 ranke of the maple beat, yet is venture to suggest that it was sung as heartily as ever it was rendered by a Canadian audience, Lt.-Com-missioner Howard (the Territorial by a Canadian audience, Lt.-Commissioner Howard (the Territorial Commander) leading this stirring community singing of which these people are so fond. Staff-Captain Lonis, who has been working in Java and Celebes for fourteen years, and who is now on furlough, spoke of his life and work among the lepers, followed by Lieutenant Scaley, of the West Indies, and Captain Saccho, of West Mrica, whom the General had brought from London, where they are undergoing special Training.

The color-scheme presented when the General joined these smiling comrades, thus constituting a strik-comrades, thus constituting a striking and appealing trio, was hailed with delight and appreciation. It is doubtful if, ever the needs of the heathen world have been more vividly portrayed.

In the evening the Concert Hall was packed to excess long before the announced hour. The attendants declared that the building had never before been so crowded and even before been so crowded, and even then hundreds were turned away. Lt.-Colonel Westergaard, the newly-appointed Chief Secretary, was called upon, and he pictured the coming of Salvation into a young life as far transcending in charm even the beauty of the blooms in Haarlem!

By this time a deeply-spiritual atmosphere had been created, and the General's final words—for he had already given two addresses—directed the minds of all to the one great issue of the night. In a brief space four had made the decision and voluntarily come forward to space four had made the decision and voluntarily come forward to the mercy-seat, and before long there was abundant evidence of the truth of our Leader's remark in a recent WAR CRY: "Talk about seeing life," he says, "why, soulsaving is the most fascinating and enlarging employment under Heaven!"

The Councils were seasons of great blessing. The Officers simply took the General afresh to their hearts, hungrily selzing upon his every word. The final Musicale suffered little-it at all—in comparison with those preceding it. None will gainsay that a good chairman makes a difference to a program, It was certainly so lure. Mrs. Maxwell presided, which speaks for itself. She piloted the Festival with practiced hand, adding just the needed zest.

The program had been announced as "A Musical Review," or "The Evolution of Salvation Army Music from 1878 to 1928." In this connection the lantern, operated by Adjutant Porter, was used frequently and to splendid advantage.

It seemed quite natural that the first pleture to appear on the screen should be our revered Founder, who played such a prominent part in the development of Army music. That was how the program began, It concluded with the immortal story of "The Prodigal Son," told by picture and music, the Eariscourt Band playing Bandmaster Vanderkam's "The Wanderer," whilst slides were shown, llustrative of the parable.

Both huwarens and company works.

Both humorous and amazing were the lantern views depicting phases of the evolution of our music. We saw the first headers in the first particular than the be iantern views depicting phases the evolution of our music. We saw the first beginnings—the acorn, as it were, from which the giant oak has sprung; the origin of Army Bands; the first Band, which made its appearance in 1879. Following this came a picture of the International Staff Band—a study in contrasts! A facsimile of the first music published for Bands (1881) was compared with a sheet of the latest music published. The terms from thence forward alternated between a half century ago and now. The "Fry" Bund, for instance, impersonated by four men Cadets, gave an exhibition of that combinations now totalling 35,000 Bandsmen. We were then conveyed to modern 1928—the Earlscourt Band rendering "The Glory of the Combat," a finely-conceived and recent composition from the pen of Adjutant Bramwell Coles, which appears in the latest Festival Series music.

Adjutant Bramwell Coles, which appears in the latest Festival Series music.

Back and forth along Melody's Highway, we were conducted, observing a singing battalian of 1883—of which Colonel Adby was a member—and then a typical Songster Brigade of to-day. Back into the past again with a vocal solo, sung by Capatain Mildred Adby, "Oh, I'm glad I'm ready." Into the present with Bandmaster Audoire's enlivening pianoforte solo—"Blackpool." From the first volume of the Musical Salvationist, Cadet-Sergeants Etchells and McKay sang, "Jesus came with peace"; and the Dovercourt Young People's Band (Leader J. Robhins) played Captain Eric Ball's "Our Saviour's praise."

The veteran cornetist, Major Ber, who has been playing continuously since 1887, gave us the first cornet solo, with variations, published by The Army. His fingers have not yet lost their cunning!

And so on to the end of this unique eighteen-item program. Others we contributed were Songster I. Saunders, Lisgar Young People's Singing Company (Leader B. Isherwood), Earlscourt Quartet Party, as well as the Cadet Songsters and Band Secretary MacFarlane, of Earlscourt Band.

The credit for engineering the program belongs, principally, to Lt.-Colonel Saunders and Band Secretary MacFarlane, of Earlscourt Band. Their combined efforts and that of of the participants will produce, it is believed, a higher appreciation of Army music, and a more fervent desire to utilize it to the great end for which it was originated—the Salvation of the world.—J. SISTER MRS. MILES, MOUNT DENNIS

Another woman-warrior, Sister Mrs. Geo., Miles, has passed away, being Called Higher from the home of her son, Sergeant Miles, of Mount Dennis Corps. Our comrade has joined her husband, who was promuted to Giory from Barrie about seven years ago. They are both held in very precious remore as veteran and faithful fighters in The Army by Officers and comrades all over the Territory. Though failing in health and totally blind for a number of years our comrade was of cheerful disposition and kept a clear and constant tostimony to the joy afther experience of Salvation and communion with the Saviour right up to the last. She always had a word of warning and encouragement to pass on through her son or the Officers, and revelled in the memories of past fighting and victorious conquest.

Sister Mrs. Miles

A short service was conducted by Colonel Adby in the home of Sergeant Miles. The Colonel knew both "Dad" Miles and our permuted comrade and spoke of their courage and faithfulness in past days.

The Funeral service was conducted in the Burrie Citadel by Ensign Langford who soloed, "Will there be any stars in my crown?" Sister Mrs. Dart spoke of the life of our concade as one of unselfish devotion to her family and the service of God in The Army, Her knowledge and love of the Bible, too was remarkable.

"HOLD-UP" BY BANDITS

THRILLING CAMPAIGNING ADVENTURES IN CHINA

T KAO YANG, amid busy market day scenes, LL-Commissioner McKenzie and his conrades, with the help of the neveraling drum, attracted great crowds and preached Jesus to the woadering people.

The Commissioner has found it hetter to walk than to ride sometimes on his journeyings even when a conveyance was awailable. The roads were so bad, and it was so cold sitting still in the jolting vehicle.

He and his contrades had some stirring experiences. They were about fifty miles from Tientsin recently, and were crossing a ramshackle bridge, a shalty unreliable erection over a swift-flowing river, when the three of them—the Commissioner, Staff-Captain Cedervall and Ensign Kuo—were unexpectedly confronted by a challenging figure in black.

"We were covered by the six revolvers," continues the Commissioner, "and the leader of the bandits felt all over the conveyance we had been using, and looked over the baggage and began to throw out what he thought was worth searching. He then took the suitcases. Mine hapened to be locked, and I was ordered to open it, and the leader got down on one knee, his revolver in his right hand, and another man standing right against me with a revolver close to my face. The other man searched the suitcases of the Staff-Captain and the Ensign. All my goods and chattels in the bag were thrown about on the roadside in the dust.

Things were getting decidedly un-pleasant when Ensign Kuo saved the situation by saying in Chinese: "I advise you to be very careful what

He said other things too with equal impressiveness, with the result that the men gave back to the Commissioner and our contrades all they had taken. So our comrades reached Tientsin in safety.

SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND PROJECTED

PROJECTED

The fact that The Salvation Army in Jamaica is taking up the question of the blind, concerning whom Colonel Cloud, the Territorial Communder is greatly exercised has made a great impression. "Already," says Brigadier Smith, of the West Indios (West) Territory, "we have several who cannot see, who are coming to us to be laught the Braille system. We are hoping to open up a 'school' for the blind on our Headquarters. In this connection we have arranged a festival of song, and a number of outside friends are taking part to raise funds to furnish the school with appliances. A number of gentlemen have given donations for the purpose mentioned. Brigadier and Mrs. Barrell are taking a keen interest in this new development.

A FRANK CONFESSION Belgian Sociologist's Tribute

Belgian Sociologist's Tribute

An expert student of social and educational problems who has served in many representative capacities and who has a wide and intimate experience of life from varying angles, moved by contact with The Salvation Army, has written a noteworthy article in a Brussels daily newspaper contitled, "la Vraic Chariet," (Tru-Charity), in which the writer confesses that she had often misjudged charity. She frankly confesses her mistake and says:

"I was wrong to misjudge charity. It does exist in humble people upheld by religious ideals from any church and who give themselves wholly, body and soul, to the poor, miserable, disinherited . . . and this, without any thought of proselytism, simply as they believe.

ALASKAN COMRADES SHIPWRECKED

A Night on a Wind-Swept Beach in a Sub-Zero Temperature

Certain of our Alaskan comrades were wrecked en route to some special meetings. Writing recently on the matter, Major Carruthers says that while no lives were lost, the Hydaburg comrades certainly had a very exciting time. They had anchored their motor launch in a snow-storm, but the wind changed, and they drifted on to a rock. The eleven comrades, four of them women, were compelled to leave the boat, and spend the night on the wind-swept beach with their clothing drenched, without fire, and the thermometar below zero.

without fire, and the thermometar below zero. It was found that the side of the boat was stove in by the beating against the rocks; and the next tide caused it to sink, so that only the mast remained above water. This meant, of course, a loss of clothing apparel, including uniforms, some valuable blankets, and two cherished Army Flags. In all, the loss will not be anything less than four hundred dollars, apart from the repairs to the boat.

donars, apart from the repairs to the boat.

With the failure of the fishing season and the consequent financial distress, it is indeed a misfortune to these comrades. The native Soldiery are rallying to their aid and assisting them out of their own straitened means.

KOREAN SALVATIONIST VETERANS

"Chil Kok Corps has been opened for Salvation Army work for over eighteen years, a number of the Sodiers having been connected with the Corps throughout that long period." says Lt.-Colonel Chard, the Chief Secretary. "These courades," continues the Colonel, "have declared their everlasting faithfulness to the Flag.

their everlasting faithfulness to the Plag.

"Upon a recent visit of the Territorial Communder, the Corps turned out in full force, some of the comrades walking seven miles to the meeting. One old gentleman of seventy-five regularly attends the stunday meetings, bringing in a little tin, his rice, already cooked. An old lady of eighty-two years is a regular also, although she lives a great distance from the Hall. The lold folk enjoyed being photographed recently in a group for those of sixty-two years of age and ever, many of them sitting for the first time, and it was amusing to see how surprised they were that the 'trick' was done so suddenly!"

"It is not mine, to review the history of The Salvation Army. It was on hearing General Booth speak at the "Grande Harmonie" in Brussels recently that my attention was specially drawn to the beauty of this Crusade. I have wished to set the accomplishments so magnificantly described in the strong words of the General of The Salvation Army: words so profound, so moving the all their simplicity. I have seen and I how."

Opens Eastern Campaign at Saint John with a Week-End Fraught with Wonderful Blessing and Healing—Seventy Seekers and Twelve Volunteers for Candidature

THE COMMISSIONER left Torouto on Friday of last week for his Eastern tour. The program before him is a heavy one, and his itherary will entuit his traveling nearly 5,000 miles.

The first weekend was spent in Saint John. A brief telegraphed report in the left of the country of the saint John.

The first week-end was speut lu Saint John. A brief telegraphed report of the initial engagements here appears below. A detailed account of the week-end's happenings will appear in our uest issue.

From the New Brunswick ceutre our Leader, who is accompanied by Colonel Adby and also Major Church, who is reporting the Campaign for THE WAR CRY, crossed to Nova Scotla, where, during the ensuing week, visits will be paid to Amherst. Springhill, Parrsboro, New Glasgow and Syducy. The second Sunday of the Campaign will be spent at that splendid Salve-tion stronghold, Glase Bay and the camp meeting at New Aberdeen New

The second Sunday of the Campaign will be spent at that splendid Salvation stronghold, Glace Bay, and then come meetings at New Aberdeca, New Waterford North Syduey, Sydney, and, for a long week-end, Hulifax.

From this centre of Army activity, the Commissioner proceeds to Dartmonth, from whence he turns West once again for the Hub.

Our Territorial Commander is assured of a warm reception all along the line. He will meet some loyal and courageous hearts. There are many stannet veterans working away, unseen and unsung, in Corps small and large in these Maritime Provinces. Bravely and steadfustly, in sunshine or storm, they keep the Colors flying mast-high.

The three-day Campaign, conducted by the Commissioner at Saint John, was marked by glorious outpourings of the Holy Spirit, resulting in seventy seekers for Salvation, Holiness, and Consecration for specific service. There were also twelve volunteers for Cardidature.

The Commissioner and party were met by Brigadier Knight, the Divi-The Commissioner and party were met by Brigadler Knight, the Divisional Commander, and a large number of comrades on arrival at the station, and a big procession marched through the streets with Band, "banners and placards, much interest being aroused. The Young People's Councils proved a great success. There was a splendid attendance, many large detegations attending from outside Corps. The Citadel was crowded three times on Sunday, hundreds being turned away at night, God mightly used our Leader to help the people. Seasons of wonderful blessing and enlightenment were experienced. Officers and Soldiers were greatly cheered and encouraged.

The Battle for Souls at hight concluded with fifteen at the penitent-form for Salvation. There was great rejoicing over the victories won. Colonel Adby rendered splendld service in the Prayer meetings.

His friendship was further attested during the evening when he voiced his readiness to assist the Commissioner in every way possible with the project our Leader had mooted regaring the opening of a Working Men's Hostel in Oshawa. "I should like the Commissioner to come down and speak at our Rotary Club luncheon at some future date," he said, "and any help that I can give to the scheme will be freely given."

The Mayor proceeded to speak of the need in Oshawa for such an Institution for men who are temporarily "up against it." "It will be a wonder-

The Mayor—who, with the Commissioner, was given a rousing welcome when Commandant Oxbourn piloted them to the platform—was quite at home on an Army platform, and smilingly prophosical, as he proceeded to give out the opening song at the Commissioner's invitation, that The Army would make a good Salvationist of him yet.

HERE are several causes of Brigades or soloists becoming flat when singing. If the practice-room is badly vencillated, or the Itali is in the same condition, pitch is bound to suffer, and so is the vitality of the Song-viers.

Damp and foggy weather affects voices, so the Leader must be on the lookout for flattening when this kind of weather courts of weather occurs.

The mental impression of the music is often enough to cause a sinking in pitch. Minor or sad strains cause a critain amount of mental depression, and this affects physically. The remody is, then, to pay special attention when music of this kind is being renwhen music of this kind is being readered.

Slow music is more Hable to sluk in pitch than quick music, for somewhat similar reasons, and, in addition, the strain of holding the breath for long notes has a like effect.

If the Brigade is singling fi, and saddenly changes to pp. pitch will often sink.

If the music is not sufficiently well-known, a great deal of the energy that should be given to keeping up the pitch is devoted to the mechanical work of trying to read the time. There is not sufficient confidence to attack well—the notes are hit just a bit under, and, of course, down the sing goos.

She reminded her hearers of the young man who had never tasted liquor until some unwise hand offered him the effret glass of wine; he soon had a desire for more, and step by step had zone down until he had become a slave to the drink halit, like the creature portrayed in THE WAR CRY frontispiece. Mrs. Maxwell told some very sad stories of beautiful young lives which had brought not only disgrace on themselves, but also on their parents and families. The speaker told of the change wrought in many lives by the power of God. She asked one and all to use their influence to restrain the young people from ever touching intoxicants.

A splendid crowd gathered at Danforth Corps on Wednesday, March 1st, for the Annual Home League Ten. Mrs. 1d.-Commissioner Maxwell was the guest of honor, and she received a right warm welcome.

Mrs. Staff-Captain Ritchie, representing the Home Leaguers of the Toronto East Division, expressed the pleasure it was to her to welcome Mrs. Maxwell, and also Mrs. Lt.-Colonel Whatley, who accompanied her. After thanking the members for their kind welcome, Mrs. Maxwell gave some much-appreciated counsel to the assembled company. She referred to the splendid opportunities afforded the members of the Home League, stating that by getting women interested in this movement they could ultimately accomplish the nurpose they had set out to achieve, home life would be bettered, spiritual life improved, and the world benefited, it was encouraging, she remarked, to hear how much good had been accomplished through the efforts of these faithful bands of women throughout The Army. How they helped the Field Officers and the Corps generally!

In conclusion, Mrs. Maxwell emgratulated the Dunforth Home League Locals and members on their past successes, and also the workers who had given so much time to make this evening a success. She wished them every blessing and success in all their future endeavors.

Mrs. Whattley, who was called upon, voiced her pleasure at being present, and added her congratulations to all concerned.

The Corps Sergeant-Major, Brother John Stitt, paid fine tribute to the local work of the Home League, and Adjutant Martin, the Corps Officer, in closing, thanked Mrs. Maxwell (Continued at fool of column 1)

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DAY AT ST. JOHN'S

CONDUCTED BY THE SUB-TERRITORIAL COMMANDER—FIFTY-FIVE SEEKERS

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DAY at the St. John's I Hall, on February 9th, was of a bright happy and useful character. The Subterritorial Commander and Miss. Moore were in charge, assisted by Major Tilley and the Staff, and most encouraging meetings ensued.

The morning session took the form of a Consecration service. The Colonel's talk was instructive and helpful in its lessons of conrage, prayer, endurance and prodence. Testimoneur were full of the joy of Full Salvation, and masmetified ones were exported to seek the Blessing of a loyally to God and The Army.

Solos and racitations by various hoys and girls were well rendered, and much enjoyed. A reading by Corps Cadel David Monthon was voted excellent. Another annual item was a short address on the 'Prover of the Cross,' by the Young People's Assistant. Capitain C. O. THE EASTER SPECIAL

A GOOD STORY — YOUR OUT-AND-OUT HERALD — A PROMISING RECIPE—A FULL SUPPLY—THE PUBLISHING KITCHEN—THOSE REPEAT ORDERS

IHAT was a really good story told in THE WAR CRY last week about "Mother" Ward, the 88 year-young boomer of London, It appears she met with a slight accident some time ago, and when her rescuers got her on to her feet again, her first words were, "Will you hay a WAR CRY?"
That's your out-and-ont herala all over! Nothing disturbs his or her firm purpose to dispose of The Army's official organ, in sunshine or radio, when feeling "up" or "down." Whatever happens his dominant thought is:

"A CRY in Every Home."

He falls from the top floor of a twenty storey building. What hap-pens? Why, he cries to the tertified folk who gaze from the windows he passes: "Don't forget to hay a WAR CRY!"

A hurglar enters his hedroom,

A burgler enters his hedroom. He jumps up in alarm and automatically cries: "Buy a WAR CRY."
Nothing turns him aside from bis task. Whatever happens, it is a case of "None of these things more me."
That's how it will surely be with the Easter number. When the heralds see it they will be so pleased that they will

MRS. COLONEL HENRY AT LISGAR STREET

LISGAR STREET

The mombers of the Lisgar Street Home League were delighted with the recent visit of Airs, Colonel Henry, Observing the presence of about twolve little children who accompanied their mothers. Airs, Henry encouraged the mothers to bring their children with them to the Home League gatherings, rather than miss these meetings. She also stressed the point that we are all working for a linger and Better Home League and that it was most important that avery member should cooperate with their leaders to bring this about. Mrs. Henry was assisted by Airs Brigadier Burrows. At the conclusion of this special meeting, every one present felt that they had profited enough energy wish, and sincerely hoped that she would come again.

Week-end at Oltawa

During the last week-end of the Senior Bigger and Better Campaign at Ottawa I, the old warriors were at the front, and a splendid old warrior was leading, in the person of our highly-esteemed Colonel Ancols. The Colonel arrived in time for the United Hollmoss meeting on Priday night, when an interested andience listened to his heart talk. The Saturday night meeting was of a musical character. Major Best, who introduced the Colonel, referred to his yeeman service for Gol. At the close of the program the Colonel spoke helpidly.
